Section 2

Service Specifications

Section 2

Service Specifications

2.1 Introduction

A. Overview, Purpose or Need

Nearly 3,800 offenders are currently incarcerated on behalf of the State of Hawaii, with nearly 1,600 of these housed out of State. Offenders and ex-offenders striving toward re-integration face a number of challenges unique to their predicament. Additionally, education/employment, and financial situations have all been widely recognized as indicators of recidivism.

The purpose of this procurement is to assist individuals who are currently or have been incarcerated in entering the workforce through targeted services. In particular, Native Hawaiians and their families continue to be acutely and disproportionately impacted by the criminal justice system. Overrepresentation of Native Hawaiians accumulates at nearly every stage within the criminal justice system process, from the initial decision to arrest all the way to parole revocation. It is also widely acknowledged that meaningful culture-based programming and integration can serve as a protective factor against recidivism among Native Hawaiians. Consequently, this procurement also seeks to support specialized mitigation and amelioration efforts aimed at addressing the unique needs facing Native Hawaiian offenders, ex-offenders, and their families in an effort to reduce recidivism rates and increase cultural, individual, and familial resiliency.

On the island of Oahu and Hawaii, over 90% of persons enrolled in Employment Core Services procured are offenders and ex-offenders seeking reentry. A second purpose is to relieve OCS's existing program of Employment Core Services for Low-Income Persons from an overrepresentation of ex-offenders through the creation of services that are coordinated with public and private agencies to provide a more comprehensive and supportive approach to addressing the reentry and rehabilitative needs of offenders, ex-offenders, and their families.
