2.1 Introduction

A. Overview, purpose or need

The Office of Youth Services (OYS) believes that community is where our youth belong. While community is where hurt, fear, suffering, and trauma may occur; community conversely is where caring, restoration, forgiveness, and healing emerges and is fostered. Deep connections and relationships form the foundation for community, and our state statute. The “Aloha Spirit” (HRS 5-7.5), describes how we may consider to exercise the power and life force of the Aloha Spirit on behalf of Hawaii’s people: “Aloha’ is the essence of relationships in which each person is important to every other person for collective existence. Aloha means to hear what is not said, to see what cannot be seen and to know the unknowable.” Aloha Spirit is a way of life, an attitude, a way of being, that acknowledges the following:

Akahai – meaning kindness (grace), to be expressed with tenderness;
Lokahi – meaning unity (unbroken), to be expressed with harmony;
Oluolu – meaning agreeable (gentle), to be expressed with pleasantness;
Ha’aha’a – meaning humility (empty), to be expressed with modesty;
Ahonui – meaning patience (waiting for the moment), to be expressed with perseverance.

Our youth who are experiencing a lack of Aloha are often involved with our juvenile justice system and need to be nourished and connected to healthy healing families and relationships. OYS cannot do this alone; we need community to be involved in multiple ways that truly reflect the intelligence and practical applications of Aloha. We need community to surround our youth with loving, authentic, courageous, strong and compassionate people, services and programs. Kupuna (respected elders), with their wisdom, role modeling, can bridge a link to ancestors, and Aloha presence need to be connected with our youth and families. The resulting outcomes will be youth who are thriving, at peace with themselves and others, hopeful, mindful, and of service to the community.

Aloha is a life-long commitment that supports youth at-risk and their families. It supports their strengths and abilities to be successful in their schools and communities. It brings together a wide variety of stakeholders, parents and family members to strengthen collaboration, embrace wholeness, healing, and awareness that we are Lokahi (unbroken, unity & harmony). This realization can provide many types of Aloha responses that meet the unique talents, needs and abilities of the youth who need our direction and help.

OYS is requesting proposals from qualified applicants to provide a staff secured, community-based residential program for youth in need of a residential placement more structured than a traditional group home but less severe than incarceration at the Hawaii Youth Correctional Facility (HYCF) and to serve as a resource for the Office of Youth Services (OYS) and the family court for youth in need of temporary out-of-home placement.

Services should incorporate effective practices to promote personal growth and development to strengthen cultural identity, academic knowledge and skills, pono (balanced, right) decision-making, and the ability to contribute to one's self and family, and their communities. Services should incorporate effective cultural values, practices and traditions designed to help youth avoid unproductive behaviors and maintain safe, healthy lifestyles and to promote the reduction of the risk factors and increase protective factors specific to developing and supporting healthy youth within the communities where the program services are to be provided.

Reducing risk factors and increasing protective factors for youth, families, and their communities can best be accomplished by a holistic and multi-sector approach. Youth development practitioners, the policy community, and prevention scientists have reached the same conclusions about promoting better outcomes for youth. Programs should be expanded beyond a single problem behavior focus to considering program effects on a range of positive and problem behaviors. The OYS recognizes that focusing on youth development serves as an effective strategy for the prevention of many youth risky behaviors such as early sexual involvement, unprotected sexual behavior, drug use, truancy and dropping out of school, delinquency and violence. Youth engaged in such risky behaviors are less likely to attain a high level of education or employment and more likely to have unstable partner/family relationships and to live in poverty.

Youth development programming and incorporating the values and principles of Aloha provide a framework and a coordinated effort for addressing youth issues to ensure youth have the opportunity to develop social, emotional, cognitive, behavioral and moral competencies and resiliency to enable them to achieve a successful transition to young adulthood.

Therefore, within the context of the youth development and Aloha framework, this RFP supports the achievement of the following desired outcomes for all youth:

- To enhance and strengthen family relationships
- To increase positive relationships with peers and other adults.
- To reduce risky behaviors
- To increase connectedness with community
- To increase cultural awareness and appreciation

The intent of the OYS is to award funds for safe house group homes in the State based on the needs identified and appropriate services proposed to address those needs in particular geographic regions. Funding may be used to identify, develop, and implement effective curriculum or models of service which are evidenced-based and that can be appropriately replicated in Hawaii. The service tasks to be delivered by the applicants include the following:

- Build on and enhance community resources to provide positive learning and development opportunities for youth;
- Make contact with at-risk youth within a defined region/community and connect them to appropriate resources, services, and activities, justice system or non-justice, both public and private; and
- Deliver services that develop and enhance educational, vocational, social responsibility, and health competencies of youth. Activity areas include social competency development; community service and service learning; performing/ visual arts; mentoring and intergenerational programs; physical, health and fitness; and project-based culturally programs.
- Work closely with the referring agency, i.e., judicial family court system and OYS to ensure a smooth and seamless transition back into the community by connecting youth with the appropriate resources, services activities to foster continued development and social and emotional growth.

One of the key recommendations of the Disproportionate Minority Contact in the Hawaii Juvenile Justice Report (2012) is the development of cultural-based restorative justice alternatives. The people of Hawaii experience cultures rich in values and traditions, yet, are impoverished by socio-economic indicators that lead to high rates of delinquent behaviors and poor educational performances. A renewed focus and emphasis on the importance culture, values, and traditions play in the shaping of thinking, behaviors, and attitudes of each individual has emerged in the last several years. Using project-based cultural education as a foundation for nurturing culturally healthy and responsive youth and families to contribute to the growth and harmony of the community can affect positive_outcomes for youth and ensure their educational competencies and social responsibility. Therefore, integrating culturally-based programming is essential to nurturing healthy youth with an increased sense of self and identity.

B. Planning activities conducted in preparation for this RFP

Written comments, suggestions, and other feedback for consideration in the scope of work and RFP requirements were requested by fax, mail or email through the Request for Information process by February 14, 2014. No written comments, suggestions, and other feedback were received by the due date.

C. Description of the service goals

The goal of this program is to provide a safe and temporary living environment in which youth are able to increase their resiliency and reduce their risk factors to such an extent that they are able to safely return to a more permanent living situation. Services will assist youth by increasing their decision-making, social, and independent living skills, and by increasing their commitment to learning and education as important factors in their lives.

The OYS is looking for qualified applicants to provide programs, services, and activities that will address the unique needs and issues of our youth. Interested applicants should propose specific programs and services that integrate the principles of Aloha and the guiding themes of a culturally responsive learning environment and contribute to the following objectives:

1. To design programs, services, and activities by utilizing the seven guiding themes of the NHEC (as defined in Section III. Scope of Services of this RFP) to address the unique needs and to be responsive to the needs of the youth;

4. To engage in activities and services that will promote further exploration by youth of one's cultural identity and heritage to gain a deeper sense of respect and aloha for self.
5. To develop and engage in mentoring opportunities with kupuna (elders) and/or makua (adult) to foster relationships and connections with others.

6. To build on and enhance community resources to provide positive learning and development opportunities for youth;
7. Make contact with youth within a defined region/community and connect them to appropriate resources, services, and activities, justice system or non-justice, both public and private;
8. Deliver project-based educational activities that immerse the youth in their heritage, cultures, landscapes, opportunities and experiences to develop educational competencies and social responsibility of youth. Activities include cultivating the lo'i fields (or taro patches), restoration of cultural sites (land and water), ocean-based activities and other cultural activities and practices.

2.4 Scope of Work

The scope of work encompasses the following tasks and responsibilities:

A. Service Activities

1. Service Framework (Minimum and/or mandatory tasks and responsibilities)

The Native Hawaiian Education Council (NHEC) has developed seven guiding themes for culturally responsive learning environments and is being adopted by the OYS as a framework for addressing youth issues to ensure youth have the opportunity to develop social, emotional, cognitive, behavioral and moral competencies and resiliency to enable them to achieve a successful transition to young adulthood:

- a. 'Ike Pilina (Value of Relationship) enriching relationships between youth, family, people, places and things that influence their lives through experiences, their ancestors, culture, and traditions.

- b. 'Ike MauiLāhui (Value of Cultural Identity) strengthening and sustaining cultural identity through practices that support learning, understanding, behaviors, and spiritual connections through the use of language, culture, history, traditions and values.
- c. 'Ike Kuana 'Ike (Value of Cultural Perspective) increasing global understanding by broadening the views and vantage points that promotes contributions to local and global communities.
- d. 'Ike Na'auao (Value of Intellect) instilling and fostering a lifelong desire to seek knowledge and wisdom, through the traditions and stories of our elders.
- e. 'Ike Ho'okō (Value of Applied Achievement) developing multiple cultural pathways for achieving success in pursuing learning excellence.
- f. 'Ike Piko'u (Value of Personal Identity) promoting personal growth, development and self-worth to support a greater sense of belonging, compassion and service toward one's self, family and community.
- g. 'Ike Honua (Value of Place) developing a strong understanding of place, and appreciation of the environment and the world at large, and the delicate balance necessary to maintain it for generations to come.

Additionally, a trauma-informed care approach shall be incorporated in the service delivery for youth at-risk. Studies have indicated the high prevalence of histories of trauma among youth who are placed in out-of-home care and/or involved with the juvenile justice system. It is estimated that between 75-93 percent of youth entering the juvenile justice system annually have experienced some degree of traumatic victimization. It is vital that intervention services addressing youth problem behaviors be designed to work effectively with youth with histories of trauma, recognizing the presence of trauma symptoms and acknowledging the role that trauma has played in their coping behaviors.

The OYS is looking for qualified applicants to provide residential youth development services and programming in the community. Services should incorporate the principles and values of Aloha and the seven guiding themes, cultural values, practices and traditions designed to help youth avoid unproductive behaviors and maintain safe, healthy lifestyles and to promote the reduction of the risk factors and increase protective factors specific to developing and supporting healthy youth and their families within the communities where the program services are to be.

Priority will be given to proposed programs, services, and activities that reflect these principles and guiding themes for culturally responsive programs and activities. The premise is that all youth are valuable and worthwhile and should be supported to reach their full potential. The focus should be on youth in the context of families and specific communities; therefore, services provided should:

- a. Enrich relationships between youth, family, people places and things that influence their lives through experiences, their ancestors, culture and traditions;
- b. Strengthen and sustain cultural identity through practices that support learning, understanding, behaviors, and spiritual connections through the use of language, culture, history, traditions, and values;
- c. Involve young people in their communities to increase understanding by broadening the views and vantage points that promote contribution and social responsibility to local and global communities;
- d. Involve the community in expanding life options for youth by instilling and fostering lifelong desire to seek knowledge and wisdom, through the traditions and stories of our elders;
- e. Provide youth development activities that enhance self-esteem and promote personal growth and development to support a greater sense of belonging, compassion and service towards one's self, family and community; and
- f. Develop a strong understanding of place, and appreciation of the environment and the world at large, and the delicate balance necessary to maintain it for generations to come.

2. Specific Activities

Services provided to youth shall be research-based “best practices” that have demonstrated to be effective in identifying and reducing needs and risk factors, increasing assets, and reducing recidivism or anti-social behaviors. The general length of stay in the Safe House Program is 90 days to 180 days. However, the actual length of stay may vary according to the risk level and needs of the youth.

- a. Applicants should describe in the proposal how the following basic components are incorporated into their program:
 - 1) A Coordinated Approach. Establishing an effective continuum of services for youth can only occur within the context of a coordinated program of interagency cooperation. Therefore, the proposal should describe applicant's efforts with other agencies and/or community groups to coordinate and integrate services to youth in the community.

- 2) Community Involvement. Community members should be engaged to actively participate in identifying and prioritizing needs and services to be offered to ensure appropriateness and that the needs of all youth are being met. Members of a community also offer a valuable perspective of the strengths, protective factors, and resources within their boundaries.
- 3) Building Community Relations. To develop a process for ongoing communication between provider and community leaders for community input. In the spirit of "good neighbors" community stakeholders would be kept informed by the provider of any anticipated major program changes.
- 4) Cultural Awareness and Identity. Services and activities for youth should be provided within a context that promotes the understanding and appreciation of the ethnic and cultural diversity of the community. Youth should have the opportunity to develop an understanding of self and one's own culture and a sense of identity and belonging.
- 5) Youth Involvement. Youth should be valued, viewed as resources, given useful roles and involved in productive activities in the organization and the community. Involving youth in developing and implementing services helps to build a sense of ownership, assure appropriateness and success of activities, and provide youth the opportunity to develop leadership skills and to give back to the community.
- 6) Developmentally Appropriate Programming. Services and activities should be sensitive to the unique needs, characteristics and learning styles of each participant. To the extent possible, services should match the social, emotional, and cognitive ability of the youth in the program.
- 7) Gender Appropriate Programming. Programs and activities should be responsive to the strengths and unique needs of boys.
- 8) Family Involvement. Families (biological, hanai, extended, foster, etc.) are considered partners and thereby share in the responsibility for raising healthy and productive youth. Applicants shall provide parent participation and/or support activities to encourage involvement of family members and guardians and/or significant adults in fostering family cohesion, strengthening the family system and reinforcing the parent-child bond.

- 9) A Caring Adult Relationship. Youth should be involved with adults in meaningful interactions and quality relationships that are consistent and provide approval for pro-social behaviors and sanctions for antisocial behaviors. Applicants should provide service activities that successfully link youth and positive adult role models in caring and significant relationships.
- b. The Safe House program shall include the following activities:
- 1) A Safe Place. The program shall be a safe and healthy environment for both staff and youth.
 - 2) Screening and Orientation. Youth referred to the program should be screened to determine suitability and appropriateness. Youth accepted into the program shall be oriented to the services provided and the roles and responsibilities of the youth and applicant.
 - 3) Youth Rights. The applicant shall ensure that all youth admitted into the Safe House Program are afforded equal access to program activities and services.
 - 4) Risk and Needs Assessment. The applicant shall increase strengths and address and reduce risk factors, as indicated by the use of a valid, numerically scored, and objective risk and needs assessment process that contribute to the inability of youth to function in a pro-social manner. The applicant shall also re-assess the risk level and needs of youth at least once prior to the youth's release into the community.
 - 5) Behavioral Management Plan. The applicant shall utilize a sound behavioral management plan that describes the behavior being targeted interventions to be used including who will be involved, and behavioral changes expected. Important elements of this plan should also include a list of youth's strengths and abilities, a description of what behavior that will replace the youth's inappropriate behavior, and a description of previously tried interventions and how well they did or didn't work.
 - 6) Youth Safety and Supervision. The applicant shall ensure that while youth are at the Safe House they remain safely within the group home facility and to prevent access by the general public without proper authorization. Applicant shall ensure that staff is available to all youth, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, twelve months a year. Staff must be responsible for monitoring all security aspects of the facility, including communication, key and lock control and the movement of youths into and out of program facility.

- 7) Education: The applicant shall arrange for and/or provide educational services consistent with established State of Hawaii Department of Education (DOE) standards. Educational services may be provided either at the community/neighborhood school servicing the geographic area where the safehouse is located and/or on-site at the safe-house. On-site educational services may include teacher-led instruction, tutoring, on-line learning, or any other method that will ensure that educational credits earned may be transferred back to the youth's home school district upon the youth's discharge from the program.

For youth who have been certified as special education by the DOE, the provisions established in the youth's Individualized Education Plan shall be coordinated with the youth's home district school to assure compliance and sustained involvement with the DOE.

- 8) Project-based Cultural Programs. The applicant shall arrange for project-based cultural programs that immerse the youth in their values, cultures, landscapes, opportunities and experiences. The premises for culturally competent programs and services is the belief that continued learning and practicing of a native culture is a fundamental requisite for nurturing healthy and responsive citizens and contributes to the growth and harmony of the community (Native Hawaiian Education Council). Culture is considered a protective factor that helps to promote positive health and an increased sense of self and identity.
- 9) Recreation. Applicant shall provide youth with opportunities for large muscle exercise and structured recreational activities which may include, but are not limited to supervised indoor and outdoor sports, table games and hobby crafts.
- 10) Cognitive Behavioral or Similar Approach. The applicant shall provide cognitive behavioral modification services to address anti-social or criminal attitudes, beliefs, and thinking patterns and to improve cognitive skills in such areas as anger management and decision-making. The applicant shall also measure changes in the cognitive skill level of youth. Methods other than the cognitive behavioral approach may be utilized if research has shown that an alternative approach has demonstrated to be more effective in addressing the needs of youth.
- 11) Life Skills Building (social skills, independent living skills, coping with the loss of significant others, etc.). While pro-social values and thinking establishes the foundation, youth must also acquire new behavioral skills to cope with the stresses and demands of daily living. The applicant shall utilize a curriculum that includes the purpose and objective of the skill, activities to achieve the skill, and how attainment of the skill will be measured.

- 12) Peer Relationship. The applicant shall assist youth to develop positive peer relationships. Service activities in this area should be provided with the eventual return of youth to his/her community in mind.
- 13) Leisure Time. The applicant shall assist youth to develop constructive use of leisure time. Service activities in this area should be provided based on the type of resources available in the home community of youth.
- 14) Case Management. Services to youth shall be comprehensive, consistent, individualized, and holistic in nature. The applicant shall implement a case management system that includes, but is not limited to, individual assessments and determination of functioning levels; identification of service needs; development of individualized service plans and resource identification; linkage to necessary services; coordination, monitoring and assessment of services provided; attend court hearings along with the youth as required; and periodic review and revision, if necessary, of the service plans.
- 15) Probation Officer. The applicant shall have regular communication with the assigned Probation's Officer (PO) to ensure successful program participation and completion by the youth. The applicant should also recognize that youth are impulsive, behave accordingly, and will make mistakes; therefore, terminating the youth from participating in the Safehouse program should be seen as a last resort. Staff and youth safety shall be the primary reason for program termination.

The applicant shall have procedures in place to work closely with the Probation Officer and his/her treatment plan or conditions of probation. Every effort shall be made by the applicant to ensure successful transition by the youth.

- 16) Relapse Prevention. The applicant shall develop relapse prevention plans with the youth that includes the purpose and objectives of the plan and activities to achieve the objectives of the plan.
- 17) Substance Abuse Treatment. The applicant shall describe how substance abuse services will be provided to the youth. If indicated, assessments and/or screenings shall be conducted to address the need for substance abuse services, such as the American Society for Addiction Medicine Patient Placement Criteria (ASAMPPC) for substance abuse. The applicant may provide substance services that include individual and group modalities.

- 18) Referral to Appropriate Resources. The applicant may refer youth to other appropriate community-based programs and agencies for services and shall follow-up on referrals to ascertain that services are being provided.
- 19) Participation in Meetings. The applicant shall, when requested, participate in meetings with representatives of the HYCF, FC, DHS, DOE, DOH, and other pertinent agencies. The purpose of these meetings includes, but is not limited to, updating the agencies on issues, concerns, progress, and problems relating to the provision of services to youth.
- 20) Follow-Up Services. The applicant shall provide periodic follow-up phone, personal, and/or collateral contacts with youth or the youth's support system (guardian, school, mentor, etc.) for up to six months post-release to determine the progress and stability of youth in the community. In addition, upon contact with the youth, the applicant shall provide youth with supportive counseling, words of encouragement, guidance, referrals to other services, and opportunities to participate in additional skill-building sessions at the program.
- 21) Meals. The applicant shall be responsible for the provision of major meals (breakfast, lunch, and dinner), beverages, and snacks. Meals shall be nutritionally balanced following state or national dietary guidelines and of appropriate serving sizes to meet the needs of youth. The preparation of meals may be arranged with a private or public agency.
- 22) Transportation. The applicant shall be responsible for transporting or arranging for the transportation and, if necessary, the supervision of youth at court hearings, medical, dental, and other appointments in the community.
- 23) Reporting Significant Incidents. The applicant shall provide written protocol to the Office of Youth Services for immediate notification in the event of a youth escape, injury or death.

2.2 Introduction

A. Overview, purpose or need

The Office of Youth Services (OYS) believes that community is where our youth belong. While community is where hurt, fear, suffering, and trauma may occur; community conversely is where caring, restoration, forgiveness, and healing emerges and is fostered. Deep connections and relationships form the foundation for community, and our state statute. The “Aloha Spirit” (HRS 5-7.5), describes how we may consider to exercise the power and life force of the Aloha Spirit on behalf of Hawaii’s people: “Aloha’ is the essence of relationships in which each person is important to every other person for collective existence. Aloha means to hear what is not said, to see what cannot be seen and to know the unknowable.” Aloha Spirit is a way of life, an attitude, a way of being, that acknowledges the following:

Akahai – meaning kindness (grace), to be expressed with tenderness;
Lokahi – meaning unity (unbroken), to be expressed with harmony;
Oluolu – meaning agreeable (gentle), to be expressed with pleasantness;
Ha’aha’a – meaning humility (empty), to be expressed with modesty;
Ahonui – meaning patience (waiting for the moment), to be expressed with perseverance.

Our youth who are experiencing a lack of Aloha are often involved with our juvenile justice system and need to be nourished and connected to healthy healing families and relationships. OYS cannot do this alone; we need community to be involved in multiple ways that truly reflect the intelligence and practical applications of Aloha. We need community to surround our youth with loving, authentic, courageous, strong and compassionate people, services and programs. Kupuna (respected elders), with their wisdom, role modeling, can bridge a link to ancestors, and Aloha presence need to be connected with our youth and families. The resulting outcomes will be youth who are thriving, at peace with themselves and others, hopeful, mindful, and of service to the community.

Aloha is a life-long commitment that supports youth at-risk and their families. It supports their strengths and abilities to be successful in their schools and communities. It brings together a wide variety of stakeholders, parents and family members to strengthen collaboration, embrace wholeness, healing, and awareness that we are Lokahi (unbroken, unity & harmony). This realization can provide many types of Aloha responses that meet the unique talents, needs and abilities of the youth who need our direction and help.

OYS is requesting proposals from qualified applicants to provide a staff secured, community-based residential program for youth in need of a residential placement more structured than a traditional group home but less severe than incarceration at the Hawaii Youth Correctional Facility (HYCF) and to serve as a resource for the Office of Youth Services (OYS) and the family court for youth in need of temporary out-of-home placement.

Services should incorporate effective practices to promote personal growth and development to strengthen cultural identity, academic knowledge and skills, pono (balanced, right) decision-making, and the ability to contribute to one's self and family, and their communities. Services should incorporate effective cultural values, practices and traditions designed to help youth avoid unproductive behaviors and maintain safe, healthy lifestyles and to promote the reduction of the risk factors and increase protective factors specific to developing and supporting healthy youth within the communities where the program services are to be provided.

Reducing risk factors and increasing protective factors for youth, families, and their communities can best be accomplished by a holistic and multi-sector approach. Youth development practitioners, the policy community, and prevention scientists have reached the same conclusions about promoting better outcomes for youth. Programs should be expanded beyond a single problem behavior focus to considering program effects on a range of positive and problem behaviors. The OYS recognizes that focusing on youth development serves as an effective strategy for the prevention of many youth risky behaviors such as early sexual involvement, unprotected sexual behavior, drug use, truancy and dropping out of school, delinquency and violence. Youth engaged in such risky behaviors are less likely to attain a high level of education or employment and more likely to have unstable partner/family relationships and to live in poverty.

Youth development programming and incorporating the values and principles of Aloha provide a framework and a coordinated effort for addressing youth issues to ensure youth have the opportunity to develop social, emotional, cognitive, behavioral and moral competencies and resiliency to enable them to achieve a successful transition to young adulthood.

Therefore, within the context of the youth development and Aloha framework, this RFP supports the achievement of the following desired outcomes for all youth:

- To enhance and strengthen family relationships
- To increase positive relationships with peers and other adults.
- To reduce risky behaviors
- To increase connectedness with community
- To increase cultural awareness and appreciation

The intent of the OYS is to award funds for safe house group homes in the State based on the needs identified and appropriate services proposed to address those needs in particular geographic regions. Funding may be used to identify, develop, and implement effective curriculum or models of service which are evidenced-based and that can be appropriately replicated in Hawaii. The service tasks to be delivered by the applicants include the following:

- Build on and enhance community resources to provide positive learning and development opportunities for youth;
- Make contact with at-risk youth within a defined region/community and connect them to appropriate resources, services, and activities, justice system or non-justice, both public and private; and
- Deliver services that develop and enhance educational, vocational, social responsibility, and health competencies of youth. Activity areas include social competency development; community service and service learning; performing/ visual arts; mentoring and intergenerational programs; physical, health and fitness; and project-based culturally programs.
- Work closely with the referring agency, i.e., judicial family court system and OYS to ensure a smooth and seamless transition back into the community by connecting youth with the appropriate resources, services activities to foster continued development and social and emotional growth.

One of the key recommendations of the Disproportionate Minority Contact in the Hawaii Juvenile Justice Report (2012) is the development of cultural-based restorative justice alternatives. The people of Hawaii experience cultures rich in values and traditions, yet, are impoverished by socio-economic indicators that lead to high rates of delinquent behaviors and poor educational performances. A renewed focus and emphasis on the importance culture, values, and traditions play in the shaping of thinking, behaviors, and attitudes of each individual has emerged in the last several years. Using project-based cultural education as a foundation for nurturing culturally healthy and responsive youth and families to contribute to the growth and harmony of the community can affect positive outcomes for youth and ensure their educational competencies and social responsibility. Therefore, integrating culturally-based programming is essential to nurturing healthy youth with an increased sense of self and identity.

B. Planning activities conducted in preparation for this RFP

C. Description of the service goals

The goal of this program is to provide a safe and temporary living environment in which youth are able to increase their resiliency and reduce their risk factors to such an extent that they are able to safely return to a more permanent living situation. Services will assist youth by increasing their decision-making, social, and independent living skills, and by increasing their commitment to learning and education as important factors in their lives.

The OYS is looking for qualified applicants to provide programs, services, and activities that will address the unique needs and issues of our youth. Interested applicants should propose specific programs and services that integrate the principles of Aloha and the guiding themes of a culturally responsive learning environment and contribute to the following objectives:

- c. To promote personal growth and development that serve to strengthen cultural identity and values, pono decision-making, and the ability to contribute to one's self and family, and the community, both local and global.
- d. To engage in activities and services that will promote further exploration by youth of one's cultural identity and heritage to gain a deeper sense of respect and aloha for self.
- e. To develop and engage in mentoring opportunities with kupuna (elders) and/or makua (adult) to foster relationships and connections with others.

- f. To build on and enhance community resources to provide positive learning and development opportunities for youth;
- g. Make contact with youth within a defined region/community and connect them to appropriate resources, services, and activities, justice system or non-justice, both public and private;
- h. Deliver project-based educational activities that immerse the youth in their heritage, cultures, landscapes, opportunities and experiences to develop educational competencies and social responsibility of youth. Activities include cultivating the lo'i fields (or taro patches), restoration of cultural sites (land and water), ocean-based activities and other cultural activities and practices.

D. Description of the target population to be served

Youth in this program are generally unable to function in a pro-social manner without constant supervision and support.

2.5 Scope of Work

The scope of work encompasses the following tasks and responsibilities:

A. Service Activities

1. Service Framework (Minimum and/or mandatory tasks and responsibilities)

The Native Hawaiian Education Council (NHEC) has developed seven guiding themes for culturally responsive learning environments and is being adopted by the OYS as a framework for addressing youth issues to ensure youth have the opportunity to develop social, emotional, cognitive, behavioral and moral competencies and resiliency to enable them to achieve a successful transition to young adulthood:

- a. 'Ike Pilina (Value of Relationship) enriching relationships between youth, family, people, places and things that influence their lives through experiences, their ancestors, culture, and traditions.
- b. 'Ike MauliLāhui (Value of Cultural Identity) strengthening and sustaining cultural identity through practices that support learning, understanding, behaviors, and spiritual connections through the use of language, culture, history, traditions and values.

- c. 'Ike Kuana 'Ike (Value of Cultural Perspective) increasing global understanding by broadening the views and vantage points that promotes contributions to local and global communities.
- d. 'Ike Na'auao (Value of Intellect) instilling and fostering a lifelong desire to seek knowledge and wisdom, through the traditions and stories of our elders.
- e. 'Ike Ho'okō (Value of Applied Achievement) developing multiple cultural pathways for achieving success in pursuing learning excellence.
- f. 'Ike Piko'u (Value of Personal Identity) promoting personal growth, development and self-worth to support a greater sense of belonging, compassion and service toward one's self, family and community.
- g. 'Ike Honua (Value of Place) developing a strong understanding of place, and appreciation of the environment and the world at large, and the delicate balance necessary to maintain it for generations to come.

Additionally, a trauma-informed care approach shall be incorporated in the service delivery for youth at-risk. Studies have indicated the high prevalence of histories of trauma among youth who are placed in out-of-home care and/or involved with the juvenile justice system. It is estimated that between 75-93 percent of youth entering the juvenile justice system annually have experienced some degree of traumatic victimization. It is vital that intervention services addressing youth problem behaviors be designed to work effectively with youth with histories of trauma, recognizing the presence of trauma symptoms and acknowledging the role that trauma has played in their coping behaviors.

The OYS is looking for qualified applicants to provide residential youth development services and programming in the community. Services should incorporate the principles and values of Aloha and the seven guiding themes, cultural values, practices and traditions designed to help youth avoid unproductive behaviors and maintain safe, healthy lifestyles and to promote the reduction of the risk factors and increase protective factors specific to developing and supporting healthy youth and their families within the communities where the program services are to be.

Priority will be given to proposed programs, services, and activities that reflect these principles and guiding themes for culturally responsive programs and activities. The premise is that all youth are valuable and worthwhile and should be supported to reach their full potential. The focus should be on youth in the context of families and specific communities; therefore, services provided should:

- a. Enrich relationships between youth, family, people places and things that influence their lives through experiences, their ancestors, culture and traditions;
- b. Strengthen and sustain cultural identity through practices that support learning, understanding, behaviors, and spiritual connections through the use of language, culture, history, traditions, and values;
- c. Involve young people in their communities to increase understanding by broadening the views and vantage points that promote contribution and social responsibility to local and global communities;
- d. Involve the community in expanding life options for youth by instilling and fostering lifelong desire to seek knowledge and wisdom, through the traditions and stories of our elders;
- e. Provide youth development activities that enhance self-esteem and promote personal growth and development to support a greater sense of belonging, compassion and service towards one's self, family and community; and
- f. Develop a strong understanding of place, and appreciation of the environment and the world at large, and the delicate balance necessary to maintain it for generations to come.

2. Specific Activities

Services provided to youth shall be research-based "best practices" that have demonstrated to be effective in identifying and reducing needs and risk factors, increasing assets, and reducing recidivism or anti-social behaviors. The general length of stay in the Safe House Program is 90 days to 180 days. However, the actual length of stay may vary according to the risk level and needs of the youth.

- a. Applicants should describe in the proposal how the following basic components are incorporated into their program:
 - 1) A Coordinated Approach. Establishing an effective continuum of services for youth can only occur within the context of a coordinated program of interagency cooperation. Therefore, the proposal should describe applicant's efforts with other agencies and/or community groups to coordinate and integrate services to youth in the community.
 - 2) Community Involvement. Community members should be engaged to actively participate in identifying and prioritizing needs and services to be offered to ensure appropriateness and that the needs of all youth are being met. Members of a community also offer a valuable perspective of the strengths, protective factors, and resources within their boundaries.

- 3) Building Community Relations. To develop a process for ongoing communication between provider and community leaders for community input. In the spirit of “good neighbors” community stakeholders would be kept informed by the provider of any anticipated major program changes.
- 4) Cultural Awareness and Identity. Services and activities for youth should be provided within a context that promotes the understanding and appreciation of the ethnic and cultural diversity of the community. Youth should have the opportunity to develop an understanding of self and one’s own culture and a sense of identity and belonging.
- 5) Youth Involvement. Youth should be valued, viewed as resources, given useful roles and involved in productive activities in the organization and the community. Involving youth in developing and implementing services helps to build a sense of ownership, assure appropriateness and success of activities, and provide youth the opportunity to develop leadership skills and to give back to the community.
- 6) Developmentally Appropriate Programming. Services and activities should be sensitive to the unique needs, characteristics and learning styles of each participant. To the extent possible, services should match the social, emotional, and cognitive ability of the youth in the program.
- 7) Gender Appropriate Programming. Programs and activities should be responsive to the strengths and unique needs of boys.
- 8) Family Involvement. Families (biological, hanai, extended, foster, etc.) are considered partners and thereby share in the responsibility for raising healthy and productive youth. Applicants shall provide parent participation and/or support activities to encourage involvement of family members and guardians and/or significant adults in fostering family cohesion, strengthening the family system and reinforcing the parent-child bond.
- 9) A Caring Adult Relationship. Youth should be involved with adults in meaningful interactions and quality relationships that are consistent and provide approval for pro-social behaviors and sanctions for antisocial behaviors. Applicants should provide service activities that successfully link youth and positive adult role models in caring and significant relationships.

- b. The Safe House program shall include the following activities:
- 1) A Safe Place. The program shall be a safe and healthy environment for both staff and youth.
 - 2) Screening and Orientation. Youth referred to the program should be screened to determine suitability and appropriateness. Youth accepted into the program shall be oriented to the services provided and the roles and responsibilities of the youth and applicant.
 - 3) Youth Rights. The applicant shall ensure that all youth admitted into the Safe House Program are afforded equal access to program activities and services.
 - 4) Risk and Needs Assessment. Safe House Group Home for Males

Hawaii (HMS 501-14-02-C)

Section 2

Service Specifications

2.1 Introduction

A. Overview, purpose or need

The Office of Youth Services (OYS) believes that community is where our youth belong. While community is where hurt, fear, suffering, and trauma may occur; community conversely is where caring, restoration, forgiveness, and healing emerges and is fostered. Deep connections and relationships form the foundation for community, and our state statute. The “Aloha Spirit” (HRS 5-7.5), describes how we may consider to exercise the power and life force of the Aloha Spirit on behalf of Hawaii’s people: “Aloha’ is the essence of relationships in which each person is important to every other person for collective existence. Aloha means to hear what is not said, to see what cannot be seen and to know the unknowable.” Aloha Spirit is a way of life, an attitude, a way of being, that acknowledges the following:

Akahai – meaning kindness (grace), to be expressed with tenderness;
Lokahi – meaning unity (unbroken), to be expressed with harmony;
Oluolu – meaning agreeable (gentle), to be expressed with pleasantness;
Ha’aha’a – meaning humility (empty), to be expressed with modesty;
Ahonui – meaning patience (waiting for the moment), to be expressed with perseverance.

Our youth who are experiencing a lack of Aloha are often involved with our juvenile justice system and need to be nourished and connected to healthy healing families and relationships. OYS cannot do this alone; we need community to be involved in multiple ways that truly reflect the intelligence and practical applications of Aloha. We need community to surround our youth with loving, authentic, courageous, strong and compassionate people, services and programs. Kupuna (respected elders), with their wisdom, role modeling, can bridge a link to ancestors, and Aloha presence need to be connected with our youth and families. The resulting outcomes will be youth who are thriving, at peace with themselves and others, hopeful, mindful, and of service to the community.

Aloha is a life-long commitment that supports youth at-risk and their families. It supports their strengths and abilities to be successful in their schools and communities. It brings together a wide variety of stakeholders, parents and family members to strengthen collaboration, embrace wholeness, healing, and awareness that we are Lokahi (unbroken, unity & harmony). This realization can provide many types of Aloha responses that meet the unique talents, needs and abilities of the youth who need our direction and help.

OYS is requesting proposals from qualified applicants to provide a staff secured, community-based residential program for youth in need of a residential placement more structured than a traditional group home but less severe than incarceration at the Hawaii Youth Correctional Facility (HYCF) and to serve as a resource for the Office of Youth Services (OYS) and the family court for youth in need of temporary out-of-home placement.

Services should incorporate effective practices to promote personal growth and development to strengthen cultural identity, academic knowledge and skills, pono (balanced, right) decision-making, and the ability to contribute to one's self and family, and their communities. Services should incorporate effective cultural values, practices and traditions designed to help youth avoid unproductive behaviors and maintain safe, healthy lifestyles and to promote the reduction of the risk factors and increase protective factors specific to developing and supporting healthy youth within the communities where the program services are to be provided.

Reducing risk factors and increasing protective factors for youth, families, and their communities can best be accomplished by a holistic and multi-sector approach. Youth development practitioners, the policy community, and prevention scientists have reached the same conclusions about promoting better outcomes for youth. Programs should be expanded beyond a single problem behavior focus to considering program effects on a range of positive and problem behaviors. The OYS recognizes that focusing on youth development serves as an effective strategy for the prevention of many youth risky behaviors such as early sexual involvement, unprotected sexual behavior, drug use, truancy and dropping out of school, delinquency and violence. Youth engaged in such risky behaviors are less likely to attain a high level of education or employment and more likely to have unstable partner/family relationships and to live in poverty.

Youth development programming and incorporating the values and principles of Aloha provide a framework and a coordinated effort for addressing youth issues to ensure youth have the opportunity to develop social, emotional, cognitive, behavioral and moral competencies and resiliency to enable them to achieve a successful transition to young adulthood.

Therefore, within the context of the youth development and Aloha framework, this RFP supports the achievement of the following desired outcomes for all youth:

- To enhance and strengthen family relationships
- To increase positive relationships with peers and other adults.
- To reduce risky behaviors
- To increase connectedness with community
- To increase cultural awareness and appreciation

The intent of the OYS is to award funds for safe house group homes in the State based on the needs identified and appropriate services proposed to address those needs in particular geographic regions. Funding may be used to identify, develop, and implement effective curriculum or models of service which are evidenced-based and that can be appropriately replicated in Hawaii. The service tasks to be delivered by the applicants include the following:

- Build on and enhance community resources to provide positive learning and development opportunities for youth;
- Make contact with at-risk youth within a defined region/community and connect them to appropriate resources, services, and activities, justice system or non-justice, both public and private; and
- Deliver services that develop and enhance educational, vocational, social responsibility, and health competencies of youth. Activity areas include social competency development; community service and service learning; performing/ visual arts; mentoring and intergenerational programs; physical, health and fitness; and project-based culturally programs.
- Work closely with the referring agency, i.e., judicial family court system and OYS to ensure a smooth and seamless transition back into the community by connecting youth with the appropriate resources, services activities to foster continued development and social and emotional growth.

One of the key recommendations of the Disproportionate Minority Contact in the Hawaii Juvenile Justice Report (2012) is the development of cultural-based restorative justice alternatives. The people of Hawaii experience cultures rich in values and traditions, yet, are impoverished by socio-economic indicators that lead to high rates of delinquent behaviors and poor educational performances. A renewed focus and emphasis on the importance culture, values, and traditions play in the shaping of thinking, behaviors, and attitudes of each individual has emerged in the last several years. Using project-based cultural education as a foundation for nurturing culturally healthy and responsive youth and families to contribute to the growth and harmony of the community can affect positive outcomes for youth and ensure their educational competencies and social responsibility. Therefore, integrating culturally-based programming is essential to nurturing healthy youth with an increased sense of self and identity.

B. Planning activities conducted in preparation for this RFP

Written comments, suggestions, and other feedback for consideration in the scope of work and RFP requirements were requested by fax, mail or email through the Request for Information process by February 14, 2014. No written comments, suggestions, and other feedback were received by the due date.

C. Description of the service goals

The goal of this program is to provide a safe and temporary living environment in which youth are able to increase their resiliency and reduce their risk factors to such an extent that they are able to safely return to a more permanent living situation. Services will assist youth by increasing their decision-making, social, and independent living skills, and by increasing their commitment to learning and education as important factors in their lives.

The OYS is looking for qualified applicants to provide programs, services, and activities that will address the unique needs and issues of our youth. Interested applicants should propose specific programs and services that integrate the principles of Aloha and the guiding themes of a culturally responsive learning environment and contribute to the following objectives:

1. To design programs, services, and activities by utilizing the seven guiding themes of the NHEC (as defined in Section III. Scope of Services of this RFP) to address the unique needs and to be responsive to the needs of the youth;
2. To enhance coordination of efforts by formal and informal collaborative agreements that are established and maintained amongst public and private agencies and institutions and individuals, including schools and faith-based organizations located within and/or serving the same community.
3. To promote personal growth and development that serve to strengthen cultural identity and values, pono decision-making, and the ability to contribute to one's self and family, and the community, both local and global.
4. To engage in activities and services that will promote further exploration by youth of one's cultural identity and heritage to gain a deeper sense of respect and aloha for self.
5. To develop and engage in mentoring opportunities with kupuna (elders) and/or makua (adult) to foster relationships and connections with others.

6. To build on and enhance community resources to provide positive learning and development opportunities for youth;
7. Make contact with youth within a defined region/community and connect them to appropriate resources, services, and activities, justice system or non-justice, both public and private;
8. Deliver project-based educational activities that immerse the youth in their heritage, cultures, landscapes, opportunities and experiences to develop educational competencies and social responsibility of youth. Activities include cultivating the lo'i fields (or taro patches), restoration of cultural sites (land and water), ocean-based activities and other cultural activities and practices.

2.4 Scope of Work

The scope of work encompasses the following tasks and responsibilities:

A. Service Activities

1. Service Framework (Minimum and/or mandatory tasks and responsibilities)

The Native Hawaiian Education Council (NHEC) has developed seven guiding themes for culturally responsive learning environments and is being adopted by the OYS as a framework for addressing youth issues to ensure youth have the opportunity to develop social, emotional, cognitive, behavioral and moral competencies and resiliency to enable them to achieve a successful transition to young adulthood:

- a. Ike Pilina (Value of Relationship) enriching relationships between youth, family, people, places and things that influence their lives through experiences, their ancestors, culture, and traditions.

- b. 'Ike MauiLāhui (Value of Cultural Identity) strengthening and sustaining cultural identity through practices that support learning, understanding, behaviors, and spiritual connections through the use of language, culture, history, traditions and values.
- c. 'Ike Kuana 'Ike (Value of Cultural Perspective) increasing global understanding by broadening the views and vantage points that promotes contributions to local and global communities.
- d. 'Ike Na'auao (Value of Intellect) instilling and fostering a lifelong desire to seek knowledge and wisdom, through the traditions and stories of our elders.
- e. 'Ike Ho'okō (Value of Applied Achievement) developing multiple cultural pathways for achieving success in pursuing learning excellence.
- f. 'Ike Piko'u (Value of Personal Identity) promoting personal growth, development and self-worth to support a greater sense of belonging, compassion and service toward one's self, family and community.
- g. 'Ike Honua (Value of Place) developing a strong understanding of place, and appreciation of the environment and the world at large, and the delicate balance necessary to maintain it for generations to come.

Additionally, a trauma-informed care approach shall be incorporated in the service delivery for youth at-risk. Studies have indicated the high prevalence of histories of trauma among youth who are placed in out-of-home care and/or involved with the juvenile justice system. It is estimated that between 75-93 percent of youth entering the juvenile justice system annually have experienced some degree of traumatic victimization. It is vital that intervention services addressing youth problem behaviors be designed to work effectively with youth with histories of trauma, recognizing the presence of trauma symptoms and acknowledging the role that trauma has played in their coping behaviors.

The OYS is looking for qualified applicants to provide residential youth development services and programming in the community. Services should incorporate the principles and values of Aloha and the seven guiding themes, cultural values, practices and traditions designed to help youth avoid unproductive behaviors and maintain safe, healthy lifestyles and to promote the reduction of the risk factors and increase protective factors specific to developing and supporting healthy youth and their families within the communities where the program services are to be.

Priority will be given to proposed programs, services, and activities that reflect these principles and guiding themes for culturally responsive programs and activities. The premise is that all youth are valuable and worthwhile and should be supported to reach their full potential. The focus should be on youth in the context of families and specific communities; therefore, services provided should:

- a. Enrich relationships between youth, family, people places and things that influence their lives through experiences, their ancestors, culture and traditions;
- b. Strengthen and sustain cultural identity through practices that support learning, understanding, behaviors, and spiritual connections through the use of language, culture, history, traditions, and values;
- c. Involve young people in their communities to increase understanding by broadening the views and vantage points that promote contribution and social responsibility to local and global communities;
- d. Involve the community in expanding life options for youth by instilling and fostering lifelong desire to seek knowledge and wisdom, through the traditions and stories of our elders;
- e. Provide youth development activities that enhance self-esteem and promote personal growth and development to support a greater sense of belonging, compassion and service towards one's self, family and community; and
- f. Develop a strong understanding of place, and appreciation of the environment and the world at large, and the delicate balance necessary to maintain it for generations to come.

2. Specific Activities

Services provided to youth shall be research-based “best practices” that have demonstrated to be effective in identifying and reducing needs and risk factors, increasing assets, and reducing recidivism or anti-social behaviors. The general length of stay in the Safe House Program is 90 days to 180 days. However, the actual length of stay may vary according to the risk level and needs of the youth.

- a. Applicants should describe in the proposal how the following basic components are incorporated into their program:
 - 1) A Coordinated Approach. Establishing an effective continuum of services for youth can only occur within the context of a coordinated program of interagency cooperation. Therefore, the proposal should describe applicant's efforts with other agencies and/or community groups to coordinate and integrate services to youth in the community.

- 2) Community Involvement. Community members should be engaged to actively participate in identifying and prioritizing needs and services to be offered to ensure appropriateness and that the needs of all youth are being met. Members of a community also offer a valuable perspective of the strengths, protective factors, and resources within their boundaries.
- 3) Building Community Relations. To develop a process for ongoing communication between provider and community leaders for community input. In the spirit of "good neighbors" community stakeholders would be kept informed by the provider of any anticipated major program changes.
- 4) Cultural Awareness and Identity. Services and activities for youth should be provided within a context that promotes the understanding and appreciation of the ethnic and cultural diversity of the community. Youth should have the opportunity to develop an understanding of self and one's own culture and a sense of identity and belonging.
- 5) Youth Involvement. Youth should be valued, viewed as resources, given useful roles and involved in productive activities in the organization and the community. Involving youth in developing and implementing services helps to build a sense of ownership, assure appropriateness and success of activities, and provide youth the opportunity to develop leadership skills and to give back to the community.
- 6) Developmentally Appropriate Programming. Services and activities should be sensitive to the unique needs, characteristics and learning styles of each participant. To the extent possible, services should match the social, emotional, and cognitive ability of the youth in the program.
- 7) Gender Appropriate Programming. Programs and activities should be responsive to the strengths and unique needs of boys.
- 8) Family Involvement. Families (biological, hanai, extended, foster, etc.) are considered partners and thereby share in the responsibility for raising healthy and productive youth. Applicants shall provide parent participation and/or support activities to encourage involvement of family members and guardians and/or significant adults in fostering family cohesion, strengthening the family system and reinforcing the parent-child bond.

- 9) A Caring Adult Relationship. Youth should be involved with adults in meaningful interactions and quality relationships that are consistent and provide approval for pro-social behaviors and sanctions for antisocial behaviors. Applicants should provide service activities that successfully link youth and positive adult role models in caring and significant relationships.
- b. The Safe House program shall include the following activities:
- 1) A Safe Place. The program shall be a safe and healthy environment for both staff and youth.
 - 2) Screening and Orientation. Youth referred to the program should be screened to determine suitability and appropriateness. Youth accepted into the program shall be oriented to the services provided and the roles and responsibilities of the youth and applicant.
 - 3) Youth Rights. The applicant shall ensure that all youth admitted into the Safe House Program are afforded equal access to program activities and services.
 - 4) Risk and Needs Assessment. The applicant shall increase strengths and address and reduce risk factors, as indicated by the use of a valid, numerically scored, and objective risk and needs assessment process that contribute to the inability of youth to function in a pro-social manner. The applicant shall also re-assess the risk level and needs of youth at least once prior to the youth's release into the community.
 - 5) Behavioral Management Plan. The applicant shall utilize a sound behavioral management plan that describes the behavior being targeted interventions to be used including who will be involved, and behavioral changes expected. Important elements of this plan should also include a list of youth's strengths and abilities, a description of what behavior that will replace the youth's inappropriate behavior, and a description of previously tried interventions and how well they did or didn't work.
 - 6) Youth Safety and Supervision. The applicant shall ensure that while youth are at the Safe House they remain safely within the group home facility and to prevent access by the general public without proper authorization. Applicant shall ensure that staff is available to all youth, 24 hours a day, seven days a week, twelve months a year. Staff must be responsible for monitoring all security aspects of the facility, including communication, key and lock control and the movement of youths into and out of program facility.

- 7) Education: The applicant shall arrange for and/or provide educational services consistent with established State of Hawaii Department of Education (DOE) standards. Educational services may be provided either at the community/neighborhood school servicing the geographic area where the safehouse is located and/or on-site at the safe-house. On-site educational services may include teacher-led instruction, tutoring, on-line learning, or any other method that will ensure that educational credits earned may be transferred back to the youth's home school district upon the youth's discharge from the program.

For youth who have been certified as special education by the DOE, the provisions established in the youth's Individualized Education Plan shall be coordinated with the youth's home district school to assure compliance and sustained involvement with the DOE.

- 8) Project-based Cultural Programs. The applicant shall arrange for project-based cultural programs that immerse the youth in their values, cultures, landscapes, opportunities and experiences. The premises for culturally competent programs and services is the belief that continued learning and practicing of a native culture is a fundamental requisite for nurturing healthy and responsive citizens and contributes to the growth and harmony of the community (Native Hawaiian Education Council). Culture is considered a protective factor that helps to promote positive health and an increased sense of self and identity.
- 9) Recreation. Applicant shall provide youth with opportunities for large muscle exercise and structured recreational activities which may include, but are not limited to supervised indoor and outdoor sports, table games and hobby crafts.
- 10) Cognitive Behavioral or Similar Approach. The applicant shall provide cognitive behavioral modification services to address anti-social or criminal attitudes, beliefs, and thinking patterns and to improve cognitive skills in such areas as anger management and decision-making. The applicant shall also measure changes in the cognitive skill level of youth. Methods other than the cognitive behavioral approach may be utilized if research has shown that an alternative approach has demonstrated to be more effective in addressing the needs of youth.
- 11) Life Skills Building (social skills, independent living skills, coping with the loss of significant others, etc.). While pro-social values and thinking establishes the foundation, youth must also acquire new behavioral skills to cope with the stresses and demands of daily living. The applicant shall utilize a curriculum that includes the purpose and objective of the skill, activities to achieve the skill, and how attainment of the skill will be measured.

- 12) Peer Relationship. The applicant shall assist youth to develop positive peer relationships. Service activities in this area should be provided with the eventual return of youth to his/her community in mind.
- 13) Leisure Time. The applicant shall assist youth to develop constructive use of leisure time. Service activities in this area should be provided based on the type of resources available in the home community of youth.
- 14) Case Management. Services to youth shall be comprehensive, consistent, individualized, and holistic in nature. The applicant shall implement a case management system that includes, but is not limited to, individual assessments and determination of functioning levels; identification of service needs; development of individualized service plans and resource identification; linkage to necessary services; coordination, monitoring and assessment of services provided; attend court hearings along with the youth as required; and periodic review and revision, if necessary, of the service plans.
- 15) Probation Officer. The applicant shall have regular communication with the assigned Probation's Officer (PO) to ensure successful program participation and completion by the youth. The applicant should also recognize that youth are impulsive, behave accordingly, and will make mistakes; therefore, terminating the youth from participating in the Safehouse program should be seen as a last resort. Staff and youth safety shall be the primary reason for program termination.

The applicant shall have procedures in place to work closely with the Probation Officer and his/her treatment plan or conditions of probation. Every effort shall be made by the applicant to ensure successful transition by the youth.

- 16) Relapse Prevention. The applicant shall develop relapse prevention plans with the youth that includes the purpose and objectives of the plan and activities to achieve the objectives of the plan.
- 17) Substance Abuse Treatment. The applicant shall describe how substance abuse services will be provided to the youth. substance abuse. The applicant may provide substance services that include individual and group modalities.

- 18) Referral to Appropriate Resources. The applicant may refer youth to other appropriate community-based programs and agencies for services and shall follow-up on referrals to ascertain that services are being provided.
- 19) Participation in Meetings. The applicant shall, when requested, participate in meetings with representatives of the HYCF, FC, DHS, DOE, DOH, and other pertinent agencies. The purpose of these meetings includes, but is not limited to, updating the agencies on issues, concerns, progress, and problems relating to the provision of services to youth.
- 20) Follow-Up Services. The applicant shall provide periodic follow-up phone, personal, and/or collateral contacts with youth or the youth's support system (guardian, school, mentor, etc.) for up to six months post-release to determine the progress and stability of youth in the community. In addition, upon contact with the youth, the applicant shall provide youth with supportive counseling, words of encouragement, guidance, referrals to other services, and opportunities to participate in additional skill-building sessions at the program.
- 21) Meals. The applicant shall be responsible for the provision of major meals (breakfast, lunch, and dinner), beverages, and snacks. Meals shall be nutritionally balanced following state or national dietary guidelines and of appropriate serving sizes to meet the needs of youth.
